DETAILED ACTION

1. Claim 74 has been amended.
2. Claims 74-78 are now pending in this application and are allowed. This action includes Reasons for Allowance.

Reasons for Allowance

3. The following is an Examiner's statement of reasons for allowance.
4. The prior art neither anticipates nor render obvious the combination of features as, for example, in independent claim 74:

an optimization process programmed to receive message performance information and to generate recommended message allocations;

a segmentation process programmed to segment a target visitor population into a set of segments using one or more templates each comprising one or more cells, wherein the target visitor population comprises visitors defined by a set of visitor profile attributes, each visitor profile attribute comprising one or more portions, each portion corresponding to one or more values or range of values of an attribute, wherein values associated with one or more attributes corresponds to a cell, and the set of segments, collectively, comprise the target visitor population, wherein the segmentation process uses an algorithm to identify a segmentation by determining, recursively, beginning with a single segment that includes all of the set of segments representing the target visitor population, and continuing for each new segment resulting from a split until no new segments are produced, whether to split a segment into two or more disjoint smaller segments based on whether a weighted performance of the two or more disjoint smaller segments is better than that of the segment; and an allocation process programmed to receive the recommended message allocations from the optimization process and to receive the set of segments from the segmentation process and, in response, generating message allocations.

5. The closest US prior art is HERTZ et al. (U.S. Pub. No. 2001/0014868) renders obvious the prior art as noted above.

6. The reasons for allowance are for all the reasons argued, very correctly, by Applicant's legal representatives on 05/15/2012 of why HERTZ et al. (U.S. Pub. No. 2001/0014868) did not disclose and/or teach all the limitations of the present invention.

7. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
